

THE FUN STARTS!

The big idea is to start with a "form." Then develop other "forms" on it. Build your final lines in by selecting, eliminating the lines you do not use. I leave mine in to show how it's done.

Here you can draw. If your shapes do not match yours it doesn't matter

Any shape will do. Get the working principle. Remember the sides of the face should match. Do not make one cheek or ear larger than the other.

All the lines are light lines. When drawn in as you miss them, erase or tilt faint and then bang in the heavy lines for the final drawing.

Draw fairly large. Since your shapes are your own, you originate faces.
