

A stylized illustration of a signpost. The signpost has a thick, brown wooden post with several dark brown spots, suggesting knots or weathering. The post is topped with a green, rectangular sign. The sign has a dark green border and contains the words "Open House" in a large, bold, brown font. The letters have a slight shadow effect, making them stand out against the green background. The signpost is set against a plain white background.

Open
House