

Calligraphy on a sign, likely a festival notice or program. The text is written vertically in black ink on a yellow background. The characters are in a cursive style, typical of festival notices. The text includes the festival name and details about the event.