

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are poor has increased.

There are two reasons for this. First, the population of the world has increased. Second, the income per person has not increased enough to keep up with the population growth.

So, the number of people who are poor has increased. This is a tragedy.

But there is a way to reduce the number of people who are poor. We can help them to become self-sufficient.

There are many ways to do this. One way is to provide them with the tools and training they need to start their own businesses.

Another way is to provide them with the skills they need to find work in the private sector.

There are many other ways to help people become self-sufficient. The important thing is to find a way that works for them.

So, the number of people who are poor can be reduced. We just need to find the right way to do it.
